How to get here

The province of Girona enjoys a privileged location, in the northeast corner of the Iberian Peninsula.

The Girona Pyrenees form its northern boundary, creating a natural border with France, and to the south lies the city of Barcelona, just 103 km away.

By plane

Within a 100-km radius from Girona city, there are three international airports: Perpignan Airport in France and Girona-Costa Brava Airport, with flights to major European cities, in addition to Barcelona-El Prat Airport, for transatlantic flights.

By train

Girona is the only province with two RENFE AVE high-speed railway stations, one in the capital and the other in the city of Figueres, both with direct connections to Barcelona. The province of Girona also has direct links with the main French cities with the French railway company SNCF.

Back in 1943 the family came up with the recipe for Bretcha potatoes, now the basis for the La Deu's homemade stuffed potatoes, which have been a source of inspiration for the many different versions of that old favourite, Olot potatoes.

Nowadays, La Deu is run by the fourth and fifth generations of the Reixach family, preserving the

The Girona City Convention Bureau & Congress Centre is an initiative of the Girona City Council that aims to promote the city as a destination for business tourism and the ideal spot for hosting conferences, conventions, forums, symposiums and a range of other events.

Girona is the capital of the province, strategically located just 30 km from the Costa Brava, 80 km from the French border and 100 km from Barcelona. The city is well-connected: the high-speed train can reach Barcelona in 37 minutes, Madrid in three and a half hours and Paris in five and a half. The Costa Brava-Girona Airport is 12 km from the city and the Barcelona-El Prat Airport a mere 90 km.

Girona has all the charm of a large city but without the crowds. It is a city built on a human scale, where everything is close enough to be seen on foot. The city boasts more than two thousand years of history and today is home to the Call, one of the best-preserved Jewish quarters in Europe, as well as one of the best restaurants in the world, reasons enough to make it an internationally recognised tourist destination.
